ALBERT J. AMATUZIO

Al Amatuzio was born and raised in Duluth. As a jet fighter pilot and squadron commander for the 148th Fighter Wing, Lieutenant Colonel Amatuzio gained national recognition by winning the prestigious William Tell Air-to-Air Shootout Competition and the Earl T. Ricks Competition Shootout. Upon retirement and inspired by a new challenge, Al Amatuzio went on to create AMSOIL INC. in Superior, Wisconsin. There, he changed the course of lubrication with his development of the world's first synthetic motor oil for automobile engines. He established AMSOIL as a universal leader in lubrication technology, and gained additional recognition as an honored member of the Lubricant's World Hall of Fame.
